

Dear Sirs,

Our cordial greetings.

It is with great satisfaction that we employ this to preach and invite you to participate in STPBusiness 2017 (International Negocio Meeting) to be held in São Tomé from the Palais des Congrès from 20 to 22 January 2017 under the slogan NOW IS FOR NEXT.

The STPBusiness 2017 is an international trade fair, multisectoral character, which brings together economic operators from different latitudes, where the connection of world economies has been growing, displaying their products and / or services in order to stimulate the development of business, knowledge transfer, promotion of trade, thus providing an excellent marketing tool with other global market players and highly competitive.

Also it is of paramount importance in economic and business activity in the country, allowing direct contacts between economic operators and between them and the final consumer of goods and / or services, accounting for participating companies, an effective trade platform.

There will be a set of parallel initiatives to B2B, to add value to the event, with several achievements ranging from workshops to seminars and other activities of interest to the business class.

Thus, much in honor, to count on your presence and participation in this important event. Please find enclosed the "Invitation and Event Programme", offering us, first, to provide additional information deemed convenient.

Aware that this message deserves attention from you, we anticipate our thanks, awaiting your participation in this event.
